MEMORANDA AND FAMILY RECORDS.

A FEW pages will now be left blank at the close of this volume, in which it is hoped that memoranda of new objects and events, serving to make up the town's future history, will be entered, as also a continuation of such family records, at the several homesteads of the town, as may prove of great service to its future genealogists.

To show how history is forming, the establishment of a new post-office, "Gaza" by name, at Clark's Corner, and the building of a new house of worship in Franklin, on Sanbornton soil, might be noted as belonging to this very year, 1882, before the present volume is issued, and yet too late to be noticed in their appropriate places, on pages 99 and 461. Entries under the head of "Memoranda" may be varied to suit individual tastes. Some may be interested to continue the records of the town's votes from pages 426 and 428, or of the town officers from pages 402 to 407.

In conclusion, it is earnestly recommended that the additional "Marriages, Births, and Deaths," continually occurring in the several families, be here recorded, under these respective heads, in the books of those families, giving in each case the pages and consecutive numbers in Vol. II. or the supplement of this volume, where reference to the same individuals, as parents or children, is made.
